We asked student leaders to share their thoughts on philanthropy—and their responses were energizing.

In a recent article, Herd Leader Andres Bustindui Gonzalez shared that philanthropy isn't just about money—it's about time, leadership, and community. It builds connections, creates a sense of purpose, and strengthens unity across campus.

Most importantly, anyone can get involved. Whether it's showing up, volunteering, or joining a service organization- small actions truly make a difference. As Andres puts it, philanthropy starts with a willingness to take action and be present.
